

Meet Ross Wells

Ross Wells serves as a workplace investigator, mediator and arbitrator through Wells Resolutions, a business he set up after 35 years practicing labour and employment law in Toronto and Waterloo Region. His childhood and current home have been shared with many animals, including dogs, rabbits, guinea pigs and years ago even a chicken. Ross has served on many community boards, including The Greater KW Chamber of Commerce, Wilfrid Laurier University and Grand River Hospital.

Quote:

We always had pets as I grew up – even a chicken at one point and had companion dogs and rabbits with my own family, so it was an easy decision when told of an opportunity to join The Humane Society Board. It has been a rewarding way to give back to our community.