

MICROCHIPPING

Many animals can be microchipped including cats, dogs and even rabbits! A microchip will greatly increase the chances of a pet returning home. This is especially important for cats as their return to home rate is significantly less.

Microchipping is a quick and painless procedure that does not require anesthetic. Dogs are twice as likely to return home, whereas cats are 20 times more likely, if they have been microchipped.

Pet Reunification Information & Services

Together, with the help
of our communities,
The Humane Society of
Kitchener Waterloo & Stratford Perth is determined to return all lost pets to their owners.

FOUND A DOG

1. Check for a collar or ID tag.
2. Contact your local humane society or animal services provider and fill out a found pet form.
3. Search the neighbourhood and ask neighbours if they recognize the dog.
4. Post on social media.
5. Provide a safe space for the dog to stay while searching for their owner.
6. Have the dog scanned for a microchip at your local vet or humane society.
7. Put up found pet posters in the area the dog was located.
8. Contact your local humane society or animal services provider and make arrangements to bring the dog in.

LOST A PET

1. Contact your local humane society or animal services provider right away and fill out a lost pet report.
2. Ask friends and family to help you search the neighbourhood. You can also check hiding places such as garages, sheds, bushes, and under decks.
3. Post on social media.
4. Call your veterinarian to let them know. Your pet's rabies number can be traced back to you.
5. Put up lost pet posters in your neighbourhood.

FOUND A CAT

1. If the cat looks healthy, leave them where they are. They most likely have a home.
2. Check for a collar or ID tag.
3. Contact your local humane society or animal service provider to fill out a found pet report.
4. Search the neighbourhood and ask neighbours if they are missing their cat.
5. Post on social media and put up posters.
6. If you feel the cat is truly unowned or lost, provide a safe space while looking for their owner.
7. Have the cat scanned for a microchip at your local vet or humane society.
8. Contact your animal services provider and arrange to bring the cat in.

NOTE: If you find an animal that is sick or injured, call your local animal services provider for further direction or assistance. All pets are held for a mandatory stray hold period during which we hope an owner will come forward. Following a pet's stray hold period, if no owner is found, we will then assess for health and behaviour for our adoption program.
