Humane Society of Kitchener Waterloo & Stratford Perth urgently seeks foster homes for 16 large breed dogs

KITCHENER AND STRATFORD, ONTARIO: The Humane Society of Kitchener Waterloo & Stratford Perth (HSKWSP) is making an urgent appeal for foster homes for 16 large breed dogs. With 21 large dogs in their care and 16 of them on-site between Kitchener and Stratford centres, there is a pressing need for new foster caregivers who can provide care, love and attention to the animals.

“We are desperately looking for volunteer foster parents who can take in large breed dogs until they are ready for adoption,” stated Denise Rowse, manager of volunteers, HSKWSP. “We provide training, food, supplies, and medical care, while all you have to do is provide space and lots of love.”

Volunteer foster caregivers provide temporary homes for animals waiting to find their forever homes. A foster home significantly decreases a dog's stress and anxiety, and having a family to care for them in a home environment ensures their overall happiness.

“Fostering a pet is an enriching experience. You help them when they need it the most, and play a critical role in their journey to a forever home,” states Kathrin Delutis, chief executive officer, HSKWSP. “With a growing need, I’m hopeful that our communities will answer our call out.”

For those interested in adopting available dogs, the HSKWSP is also running a promotion where they have reduced adoption fees for select dogs that have been looking for their forever home for a while.
